GERMANS FAIL TO REACH OBJECTIVE

French Prevents Them From Taking the Railway From Amiens to Clermont-- Enemy Thrown Back By Both French and British With Losses

(By Associated Press)
Paris, April 5.—German forces continued their attacks during the night, says the official statement issued today. Despite the superiority of the German effectiveness, which the statement says was spent recklessly, the Teutons were unable to reach their objective, which was the railway from Amiens to Clermont.

The French regiments by their resistance and counter attacks maintained the line in its entirety. The French troops conquered the greater part of Epineuse Wood, north of the town of Orville-Sorel. The French captured St. Alphonse farm southeast of Giverny and held it against all assaults. In the north the French withdrew to the west of Castel. They threw back the Germans from Arriere Courwood west of Mully-Nametz.

London, April 5.—The British have been pressed back a short distance on the front east of Amiens to positions east of Villers-Bretonneux, the war office announced. The Germans hurled large bodies of troops against the British between the Luce and Somme rivers, making repeated assaults. For the most part the enemy was thrown back with losses.

The Germans concentrated troops early this morning near Albert. The British artillery took them under its fire. In the Scarpe valley there was active artillery fighting during the night.

LYNCHED FOR HIS PRO-GERMAN UTTERANCES

GOVERNMENT CALLS FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 5.—A call for 400 photographs registered in the draft to mobilize at Madison Barracks Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., April 15th, was sent out to 15 states today by Provost Marshal General Crowder. They will be put into the air service.

TWO NEGROES EXECUTED FOR MURDER

(By Associated Press)
Houston, Texas, April 5.—Privates John Mann and Walter Matthews, negroes, were executed at Camp Logan this morning for the murder of Private Ralph Foley of Co. G, 130th Infantry.

(By Associated Press)
Collinsville, Ill., April 5.—Kneeling with his arms crossed, Robert P. Prager, who was lynched by a mob last night at midnight for alleged disloyal utterances, prayed in German for three minutes before he was strung up, according to statements made today by members of the lynching party. Prager was a coal miner and yesterday at Marysville, Ill., in an address to the miners on socialism, is said to have made remarks derogatory to President Wilson. The miners became angry and when they threatened to do him bodily harm he escaped to Collinsville, his home. Some of the miners followed him, collected a crowd, took him from his home and led him barefooted through the streets, waving an American flag. The police, fearing violence, took him from the crowd and placed him in the city hall. Later a large mob gathered in front of the city hall and demanded the man. Mayor Siegel consoled calmness, but the police force of four men was overpowered and Prager was found hiding beneath a pile of piling. He was dragged from the city hall, down the street and beyond the city limits. One mile west of the city, the rope by which he had been led was thrown over the limb of a tree. He was asked if he had anything to say. His answer was to drop to his knees and with his arms crossed he prayed in German for three minutes. Without further word he was pulled ten feet in the air and allowed to hang there. The mob then dispersed.

WILL NOT REBUILD HIGHWAY SECTION OF THE BRIDGE

Matter Now Up to the State of New Hampshire or to the Government

The highway section of the Dover Point bridge that was recently carried away by ice will not be rebuilt unless the State of New Hampshire or the United States government decides to construct it. This is apparent from a meeting held at city hall in Dover on Thursday at which Charles S. Pierce, solicitor general of the Boston and Maine railroad appeared and addressed the leading citizens of that city. In outlining the situation Mr. Pierce spoke as follows:

"Everybody in Dover realizes the great inconvenience that has resulted from the washing away of a section of the bridge and of course everybody in Dover deeply regrets it and of course are much interested to know when repairs are to be made.

"I am here as a representative of the receiver of the Boston & Maine railroad to tell you that the railroad cannot see its way clear to make repairs on the highway section of the bridge. I will start by asking, 'Why doesn't the railroad build the bridge?' and I will answer that by saying, 'Why should the railroad build the bridge?'

"The revenue that would be received from the tolls is not sufficient to warrant the railroad's making an outlay of $50,000 in repairing the highway part of the bridge notwithstanding that the receipts from this source have increased some yearly. The greatest increase was in 1917 when the collections from tolls amounted to $10,500 which was partly due to the increased activities in Newington."

At this point he went into the data in relation to the receipts and expenditures on the bridge since 1911 and in answer to the question of George H. Williams he said that the average net income from tolls had been about $300 per year. He said that whenever any repairs were made upon the bridge one-half of the expense was charged against the railroad section and the other half against the highway part. He said that the 50-50 charges were very conservative as the railroad officials in charge had told him that 75 per cent of the charges for repairs should have been charged against the highway section of the bridge. He said that to make the repairs that it would cost $50 for every pile that was driven in the forty feet of water.

Mr. Pierce said that there had been much agitation on the question of the state's assuming charge of the toll bridges of New Hampshire. The bridge at Woodsville has been taken over. The legislatures of Maine and New Hampshire have each appointed commissions to take over the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge. They have met and are planning to take over the bridge but as yet they are not satisfied to give the railroad the price which the railroad asks.

"To rebuild this bridge the railroad faces the proposition of having the state take over the structure," he said. "The Boston and Maine railroad is in the hands of a receiver which you all know takes it out of the hands of the stockholders and places it in the hands of the court. While the court does not say how many trains shall be run or how many men may be employed to operate the road yet the court does say that the road must be operated with strict economy. There are certain things that the railroad charges to operation. The court passes upon all these things. The receiver for his own part, would not even dream of the replacement of the bridge without an order from the court."

He spoke of the Boston and Maine being taken over by the federal government. The road is being operated under a director general. On March 21 the federal control act was passed by congress and signed by the President which makes the director general's duties very clear. The director general's orders are that the railroad make no improvement to exceed $50,000 and he says that no improvement involving more than $25,000 should be begun.

The railroad says it can recommend the building of the railroad section of the bridge but it cannot recommend the building of the highway bridge.

He said that he had made an estimate that it would take practically $49,000 to rebuild the highway section of the bridge that had been carried away.

AMERICANS ON THE VERDUN FRONT

Germans Make Big Raid on Listening Post But Are Beaten Back

(By Associated Press)

With the American Army in France, April 4.—American forces are now occupying a sector on the Meuse Heights south of Verdun. This was released tonight to the public and at the same time a statement that the enemy had raided an American listening post after a severe bombardment.

The enemy first vigorously bombarded the front line and communicating trenches and then sent over a raiding party who swarmed about the listening post. The further advance of the Germans was checked by the heavy fire poured into them from the American second line trench where the troops had taken shelter from the bombardment. As the enemy was beaten off without getting a foot hold on the first line trench, they can hardly be said to have been successful.

There was a $2,500 increase in teachers' salaries. The sum of $500 was for the moving of the Grove street schoolhouse to the high school lot, while $1,000 was for adding to the equipment of the mechanical art department. For the escape at the Court street school $100 was raised.

Miss Frances E. Smith was elected to the school board for three years and George D. Buxter for one year.

THROWS GREAT FORCE AGAINST FRENCH

Germans Attack at Grivesnes With 100,000 Troops, But Make Only
Small Gains

(By Associated Press)
Paris, April 4.—German troops numbering well over 100,000 delivered a terrible attack on the French line along a front of ten miles, running from Grivesnes to north of the Amien-Roye road. They were met with a storm of fire from the French and although the assaults were repeated in great waves, time after time, they were only able to secure a very small sector.

The French retained Grivesnes, but the Germans entered the small villages of Malilly, Balneval and Morisel. The announcement was made by the War Department that the French by a powerful counter attack has retained considerable of the ground.

GERMAN STRIKE WILL FOLLOW FAILURE

With the French armies in the field, March 28 (by mail).—This is the real story of the strikes which took place in Germany during February, as told by the German people themselves.

Although the German censorship suppressed at the time all but the most perfunctory news concerning the strikes, it did not succeed in keeping the German people from writing to their fathers, sons and brothers at the front, telling them what had happened. Hundreds of these letters were taken from prisoners captured by the French in scores of raids during February and March.

While the admission is made in these letters that the strikes failed to attain their end, open declaration is made that they are only the forerunner of more serious demonstrations.

Extracts from these letters follow:
Wannsee (suburb of Berlin), Feb. 7.—The workmen did not gain anything from their strike at Berlin and, unfortunately, two policemen were killed and several wounded. Several electric tramways were demolished, but order has been restored now and the factories are working as usual. The leader of the strike, Deputy Dittman, received five years' imprisonment as punishment.

Another Coming.
Gotha, Feb. 14.—You have undoubtedly already learned that strikes took place in all the cities and villages, and it was the same here. We had six days of alarm, but nothing happened.

Dollstein, Feb. 15.—The postman is here on leave of absence. He told me today that from where he comes, at Munich, they say that we cannot make another offensive and that even if we arrive at Paris, our enemies still wouldn't make peace, and that then all the workmen of the German empire would go on strike—for the last strike was merely a test case. If everyone was agreed, the Socialists insist they will not allow another million men to be sacrificed because it still would not end the war.

Coblenz, Feb. 8.—A big strike has broken out at Berlin, Hamburg, Düsseldorf and in the other large cities. You are not allowed to say what has taken place. But we have remarked this fact, namely, that we have not succeeded. The strike was suppressed early and the consequences naturally are that those who participated are incorporated now and obliged to serve the empire. My brother Frederick writes that the situation at Berlin was very grave. The soldiers were not allowed to go out of their barracks.

Insist on Peace
Lanwege, Feb. 3.—At Berlin the workmen have gone on strike. It seems that it was rather serious, for the strikers went so far as to parade in the streets carrying the red flag. At Berlin alone between 150,000 and 180,000 workmen participated in the strike. There was trouble in the other cities and villages as well. The workmen insist on making peace.

Apolda, Feb. 2.—The situation is very critical in Germany, for at Berlin, Leipzig and Jena a great many workmen have gone on strike.

Gunterhausen, Feb. 6.—Thursday and Friday there was a grand demonstration. The workmen from the factories went on strike and, marching to the city hall, demanded more food.

Nuremberg, Feb. 1.—The rich are afraid of a general strike en masse. People parade the street now carrying banners with the motto "Liberty for Jobless!" (The Socialist leader).

Plattling, Feb. 9.—The situation was critical here, where we live, for several days. You have undoubtedly heard about it. In nearly all the cities and villages the workmen went on strike. It is finished for the present, I am told. The Socialists insist on making peace.

Nuremberg, Feb. 11.—I know nothing especially about the strike. At Aegidienberg five orators spoke at the same time and the working men and working women, paraded the streets carrying banners which read: "Peace and Liberty."

Alzenau, Feb. 10.—I am told that Louis must leave for the front. He has quit the service of equipment. They are incorporating all the men now on account of the strike.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, luscious and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandergine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandergine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandergine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and shiny at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Dandergine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it. Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.

FIRST YEAR OF WAR COST NINE BILLION

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 4.—Nine billion dollars is the approximate cost of the first year of war for the United States. More than half of it has been expended in loans to the allies, which will be paid back in time. One third has been spent on the army and training camps and one-fifth on shipping. Barely one-sixth has been raised by taxation, the balance being secured from sale of liberty bonds and certificates of indebtedness.

As heavy as this may seem, to a nation whose yearly expenditures during peace times, is between seven and eight hundred millions, it is not as great as Great Britain and it is only two-thirds of the estimate that was set for this year.

The slow progress on the ship building program and the fact that all war supplies were retarded accounts for being under the estimate.

The government expenditures now are about a billion a month, some less than half of which goes to loans to the Entente allies which is spent in this country for supplies.

N. H. QUOTA $10,000,000 FOR LIBERTY LOAN

London, April 4.—Premier Lloyd George has returned to London from a visit to the west front. Along with the French Premier he visited the greater part of the front, visiting Gen. Foch, Pershing and Pétain.

LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN TOMORROW

The Liberty Loan campaign starts tomorrow and the local committee have their plans well under way. The allotment has been made for this city and it is expected that more than twice that amount will be taken. The Navy Yard which on the two former occasions, have responded nobly to this call, may be expected to make an even greater record than the second loan, and already there is an argument on as to where the loan banner now held by the Boat Shop will float after this loan.

In this city the teams will start a general canvass, while the women's committee will make a house to house canvass of the city.

GATES IN SOUTH POND CARRIED AWAY

The gates on the South Mill bridge have been carried away by the ice and as a result the pond flats are exposed with each tide.

One side of the gate is torn completely from the bridge and has been carried out a few hundred feet into the channel, while the other hangs half off. This was caused by the jam of ice that went out of the pond. It will require considerable time to make the repairs which must be made before hot weather sets in.

CLASSED AS A DESERTER IS A SOLDIER

The local War Board has received notice from the Adjutant General that Floyd B. Pierce of Kingston, classed as a delinquent, owing to not responding to his call for physical examination in the army, having enlisted some time during the summer. He has accordingly been placed in Class Five. The Board on Thursday also received notice of the first rejection for physical reasons of one of the men sent to Camp Devens last week.

Tilton, N. H., April 4.—The price of a ten cent cigar given each week by every Methodist in the country, is all that is required to enable the Methodists to raise their $30,000,000 war fund according to Bishop C. E. Mitchell who opened the annual conference here today.

BIG INTEREST IN SPORTS HERE

While there is a great interest here in sporting events such as wrestling and boxing it is interesting to note the audiences that appear at both the wrestling and boxing bouts.

At the big Burns-Drake match Wednesday evening it was a very large house, but there were very few enlisted men, sailors or soldiers, it being a thoroughly civilian crowd, with a large gathering from the shipping plants and navy yard.

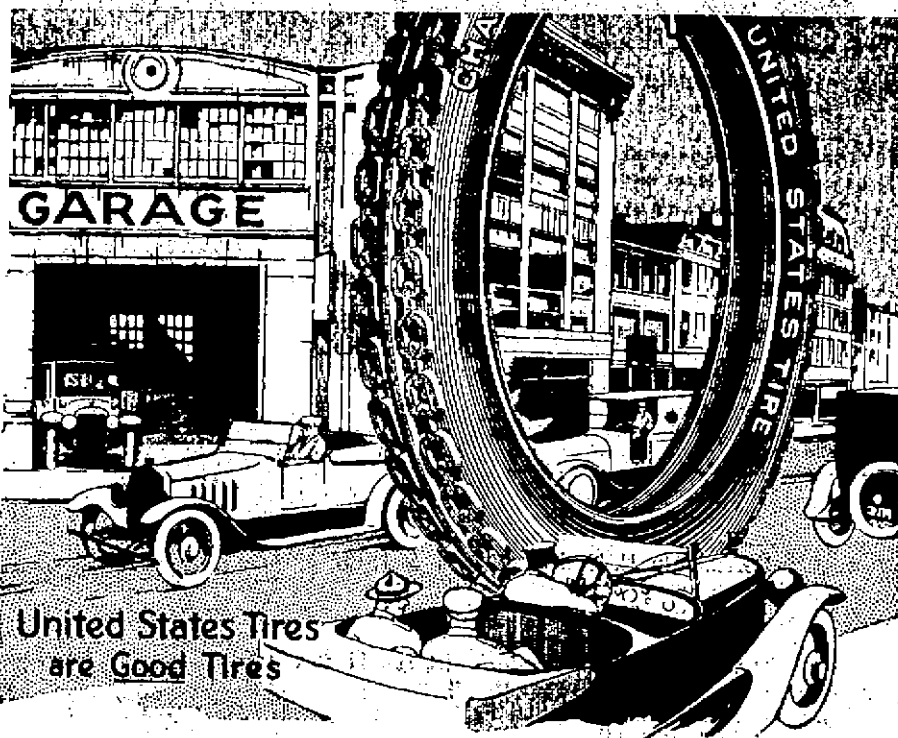

At the boxing matches it is different, here the enlisted men predominate, with however, always a good gathering of civilians. The sailors and soldiers take more kindly to boxing and they can get up quite a little enthusiasm especially if one of the enlisted men is on the card.

PLANT THE FLAG ON GERMAN SOIL

(By Associated Press)
Boston, April 4.—The only way to convince the Germans that they are licked is to plant the Stars and Stripes on German soil was the statement of Rev. His statement was greeted with cheers and the audience rising and singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

LOOK FOR GREATER BLOW ON WEST FRONT

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 4.—Renewal of the German assault upon the British and French lines, indicated to the military experts here that Germany has gathered strength from the short respite and is now ready for a mighty blow against the Entente lines.

The Allies commanders probably knew this and that is the reason why no counter attack was made. Today there were signs of great activity in the movement of troops to France, the government having taken over every available ship that could be used for transports.

Kittery people are more or less elated over the rumor that the government will erect 500 houses in that town for navy yard workmen. There is nothing official to the rumor, but the story is that the property known as Cox hill will be developed and that permanent houses will be erected, and sold by easy payment to the yard workmen.

Another Victory for Civil Service.

To those who believe that the postoffice should be a business and not a political institution there will come a sense of satisfaction in the knowledge that President Wilson has by executive order provided that first-class postmasters shall hereafter be appointed under civil service rules. President Taft before the expiration of his term took a similar step relative to lower grade postmasters, and President Wilson has merely advanced the work begun by his predecessor.

There are some slight differences, however, between the appointment of postmasters and other officials under the civil service. In selecting other officials choice may be made from the three candidates standing highest in the examination, and their appointments do not have to be confirmed. In selecting a first-class postmaster the candidate passing the best examination must be taken and the appointment must be confirmed by the United States Senate. The postmaster entering office under civil service may be removed for cause, but will otherwise serve as long as he is able to perform the duties of the office unless he resigns.

This takes the postoffices entirely out of politics, a consummation that should be eminently satisfactory to all but the executive order of some future president, but such a step by executive order of some future president, but such a step is hardly to be anticipated. Civil service has been gaining headway in the estimation of the people for many years and it is not to be expected that a back track will ever be taken.

Under the present system postoffices will no longer be the football of politics. Administrations may come and administrations may go, but the postmasters will keep right on attending to business, so long as they attend to it properly. Civil service will not protect them in cases where they neglect their duty, and there will be a rude awakening for any who may assume that it will.

Under civil service men of any and all parties will be eligible to appointment as postmasters. Appointments will depend entirely on the results of the examinations. The Senate will have the power to reject such appointments, but it is a safe presumption that there will be few instances in which this will ever be done. The people would have no patience with a body which would convert into a political game a business that had legitimately been taken out of politics.

From this time on appointments of first class postmasters are to be made under the new rules, and in a short time examinations are to be held in this state and Massachusetts preparatory to filling vacancies in Concord and Worcester. The salary of the New Hampshire office is $3,400 a year and that of the Worcester office is $6,000. Under the old system there would be struggles lasting for months, with all sorts of political wirepulling. Under civil service choices will be quickly reached, and unless the Senate should see fit to make trouble the business will be promptly disposed of.

This is progress in the right direction and the public, in whose interest the postoffices are maintained, should be the gainer.

Food profiteers in Massachusetts have been warned that if they do not quit the practice they will be prosecuted. How would a few prosecutions work now, when the evidence of offending is clearly in hand? Dealers were given fair warning when the regulations were made. Why not demonstrate right now, for the benefit of offenders and others, that the law means what it says? This would have more and better effect than all the "warnings" that may be issued.

Central Park in New York is to be saved from spoliation by the inability of the War Department to furnish soldiers to dig trenches in which to give war exhibitions in aid of the Liberty Loan. And the chances are that after the excitement has died down those who favored and fought for the trench system will appreciate the unexpected salvation.

It did not take the French long to "accede to the request" of General Pershing that the American soldiers be placed in the firing line. The result was that they were quickly started for the front, singing and shouting and ready to show the kind of stuff of which they are made.

The First Baptist church of Manchester also knows how to "go over the top." A collection was taken last Sunday to raise $800 toward the Northern Baptist $1,000,000 war fund, and when the change was counted it footed up $2,764.

Worse and worse. Chairman Lever of the Agricultural Committee says this country is not many months from bread cards. But perhaps things may look brighter after the conclusion of the great battle.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

La Belle France
(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)
It will be a good many years before anyone again dares to sneer at France as a decadent nation.

A Job For Kultur Chemists
(From the New York Sun)
German inventors may expect to be called upon to find a substitute for Hindenburg's genius, that celebrated article being possibly exhausted.

Previously Planned Strategy
(From the Toronto Mail and Empire)
General Foch's appointment was no last-minute, panicky move. It was part of a carefully worked out plan of campaign adopted perhaps months before the much-advertised offensive was begun.

The Guilt of Paris.
(From the New York World)
Berlin blames Paris for the killing of scores of women and children during the shelling of a church. Only a wicked city would put a house of prayer right in the path of the Christian-like shells of the ally of the Lord.

He Might Have Grown To It
(From the New York World)
Massachusetts, there she stands—eleventh state to ratify the Prohibition Amendment. Only Daniel Webster would not have put so much enthusiasm into his apostrophe on this occasion.

The Beginning of Team-Play
(From the Chicago Evening Post)
We regard the appointment of Foch as a most auspicious omen. It means that personal and racial prejudices are vanishing in the heat of conflict and that the world democracies are being welded into a fighting brotherhood whose unbroken front will stand between freedom and its foes until the great victory is won.

A Pioneer in Barbarity
(From the New York Herald)
The value of such a gift can be readily appreciated when the devastation that the Germans have wrought in the fairest portion of France is considered. They cut away in a spirit of malicious mischief every tree, forest, fruit and shade, in the line of their retreat in Meuse and Ardennes, committing an offence against the laws of nature and the rights of civilization of which the most savage and barbarous people had heretofore not been guilty.

Where Perfection Reigns
(From the New York World)
Having delayed the passage of the Liberty Loan bill until a few days before the launching of the Liberty Loan campaign, the House now discovers that in its haste it perpetrated a serious blunder in certain of the provisions. It will now be the duty of the Senate to make the necessary correction, and perhaps in the final rush it may contribute further errors of its own. Yet Congress is the one body that is rated by its members as all-wise and infallible and the sole advisory capable of keeping the Government in emergency in perfect working order.

Pershing's Big Command
(From the New York Commercial)
General Pershing now commands the largest American army mobilized since the Civil War, and probably larger than any single command in that war. His chance is coming, and his country can rely on him. He will not take unwarranted chances or sacrifice men to win fame for himself, but when the hour comes he will not flinch. He obeyed orders, and did his work well on the Mexican frontier, when many another in his place would have plunged us into war with that exasperating neighbor, and in that way would have served the Kaiser, whose designs in that quarter we now understand.

Tractors To Attract Labor
(From the New York Commercial)
Labor is scarce, but Western farmers seem to have enough for spring work. Some report that good labor can be procured easily when tractors and other modern agricultural machinery are used, because intelligent men take an interest in such appliances. A city-bred mechanic does not understand horses and may not sympathize with a temperamental mule, but he will take to a tractor and probably know more about it than the farmer who hires him. If the Government Labor Bureau can provide the best hands and the season is propitious, our food problems should be less troublesome six months hence.

Pennsylvania Trees For France
(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)
Nothing that the Germans have done in France is more despicable than the deliberate ravaging of the occupied country for no military reason. At every point where they were driven back by the Allies they destroyed whatever they could not carry off. The spirit of malicious mischief was especially revealed by the spoliation of the forests and orchards. If there was not time to fell trees they girdled them. The need of repairing this widespread injury after the war will be very great. It is a gracious act, therefore, for the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry to offer four million white pine seedlings from the state nurseries for this purpose. The French Government will undoubtedly accept the gift with gratitude, seeing in it another proof of the deep affection of Americans for France and their keen sympathy with the sufferings of the French people.

An Editor For 47 Years
(From the Springfield Republican)
Charles Hopkins Clark, editor of the Hartford Courant, with which he has been identified for forty-seven years, reached his seventieth birthday on Monday. All connected with that news paper establishment joined in congratulations and tendered, with their best wishes and affectionate regard, an engrossed testimonial to the respect in which Mr. Clark is held by those who have been in closest relationship with him. It is good to see that Editor Clark permitted to appear in the Courant, along with a very striking and impressive likeness of the one around whom that newspaper family gathered. Mr. Clark has become an institution of his city and state, and the Republican wishes him many returns of that happy day. The Courant is the oldest newspaper in Connecticut and we should like to see Mr. Clark live to be the oldest editor in his state. Though he may very likely already have reached the distinction of being among the living the one longest in active service, that is no proper stopping place.

No Coin For Constantine
(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer)
When Constantine I, king of the Hellenes, consented to resign his kingship and get out of Greece, his grateful subjects promised him a pension of $116,800 a year. They would have been glad to get rid of him at almost any price, and considered an annual expense of $116,800 very moderate.

Now this promise to pay has gone to the big bag where Europe relegates its scraps of paper. Constantine, since his abdication, has been constantly working to advance the German cause in the Balkans. From his Swiss residence he maintains constant communication with brother-in-law William, Hohenzollern at Berlin, and offers many useful hints and suggestions. The Greek Parliament considers that such conduct absolves the Greek nation from all indebtedness to its ex-despot and nullifies the pension agreement. It has therefore decided to permit brother-in-law Wilhelm to have all the pleasure there is in paying Constantine's grocery bills.

The $116,800 that was to have been donated to the royal exile will be devoted to getting Greece ready for war. It is not much, but each year it will be enough to buy several rifles to shoot Germans with.

An Appeal For Russia
(From the New York Herald)
"Send us brains, knowledge and money," is the appeal made to America by Mr. Timiryazeff, who was minister of commerce and industry under the Tsar, and who will probably head the Russian committee which will be the German committee will elaborate the details of the commercial treaty.

In an exhaustive interview with Hermann Bernstein, who transmits it to the Herald from Petrograd, the former minister reviews recent events in Russia and defines her present position. "If Russia loses hope and energy now she is lost," he remarks. "We must do what we can to aid." "America," he says, "could accomplish wonderful things with our railroads, with irrigation, in the development of forests and in supplying agricultural implements. The forests alone, if developed, could cover our war losses, to say nothing of our fisheries, the immense mineral wealth in Siberia and cotton in Turkistan and the Caucasus."

Mr. Timiryazeff is not Bolsheviki, disagreeing, as he states, entirely with their theory. He evidently pins his hopes on the stipulation that the general will be elaborated at the American peace conference and the American influence play an important part in world affairs.

Prohibition's Present Impetus
(From the Springfield Republican)
The causes of the swift growth of prohibition sentiment are various. Unquestionably the war, with its acute problems of the economy both of man and of material things, has hastened it. But two more fundamental factors are what may be called the new social conscience and a new belief, by numerous doubters, that national prohibition will prohibit.

Those who have fought year in and year out for prohibition, regarding alcohol in itself as an accursed thing, many of them do doubt intolerant, deserve all credit for having stood fast to their convictions. They pointed the way. It is a pity that some of the old leaders are not here to witness the triumphant progress of these things. But that which has now been accomplished in Massachusetts would not have been possible if those old-time prohibitionists had not been joined by many others, men and women with a different view of alcohol, who were moved both by recent scientific studies of its effects and of its demonstrated social wastage, into an eager willingness to forfeit all right to use it for themselves if society as a whole could be protected against it.

As for the question whether national prohibition will prohibit, it is not to be expected that it will be 100 per cent efficient; that efficiency is nowhere obtained, even by laws against homicide. But it is to be remembered that within a generation the agencies of Government have multiplied in countless ways, as those who have just finished making out income tax returns will cordially testify. The eye of the Government is more watchful than ever before, its arm longer. It may confidently be believed that national prohibition will prohibit to a degree that will establish it as an epochal step in social progress.

Fast Work in Mesopotamia
(From the New York World)
The swiftness of the British advance in Mesopotamia as well as Palestine may soon combine two minor operations into a major one.

For a time after winning Jerusalem, as after capturing Bagdad, the British went slowly. From Jericho a fairly rapid pace was set to Amman, where, by advancing on the junction at Derab, the Turks can be flanked out of their citadel of Nabulus. The advance from Bagdad, which merely crept to Samarra and later to Hill, has gone 136 miles beyond Hill up the Euphrates, is capturing guns and Germans and meets feeble resistance.

It is a campaign of magnificent distances. On the Euphrates the British are 400 miles from Basra and 250 short of Aleppo by sea line. Derab is some 260 miles alike from Aleppo and from Samarra. For the first time Aleppo is menaced not by the nearness but by the swiftness of the attack. Danger there must recall the Turks from the Upper Tigris and the entire Bagdad railway route.

Planned by the sea and the desert, the Palestine army runs no risk. The Mesopotamian expedition has no such sense of security. If its commander does not fear another Ctesiphon disaster he must have information of military demoralization ahead and of Arab peoples eager for deliverance. Further north, we are now told, Georgians and Circassians are arming for defense against the Turk, who may have his hands too full to meet the

Mystery in Aviator Falls
(From the New York Sun)

Many of the tragic falls of aviators, particularly at the aviation camps in the United States, have appeared as mysteries to the general public. Whether they have been as puzzling to the doctors and other experts of the flying service we cannot say, but the observations of a British surgeon, A. E. Panter, who writes in the Journal of the Royal Naval Medical Service, indicate that the peculiar tragedies are not confined to America.

The obvious suggestion, generally accepted in America, that loss of consciousness by the pilot is the immediate cause of many falls, is also accepted by Dr. Panter. In some cases, after consciousness departs, the aviator makes a subconscious effort to land not always without success. In other cases the flying man remained his senses, recovered the control of his machine and landed safely, but was found to be ill.

Lack of oxygen, the cause to which all sudden prostrations of aviators was once attributed, is no longer found guilty of itself alone. Among fliers whose patrol duty took them as high as 17,000 feet Surgeon Panter found few symptoms attributable to lack of oxygen, and he believes that the body finds factors which compensate, usually, for the decrease in atmospheric pressure. The quality of the breathed air deteriorates, but the quantity taken in is larger.

What Dr. Panter makes most of, and our own aviation surgeons are probably observing the same thing—is the fact that in most cases fliers who were overcome "on high" and lived to tell of it, admitted that they had been feeling out of sorts before they went up. The slightest disability becomes, in the clouds, a distressful ailment. A common cold will turn into suffocation, perhaps with nosebleed. An indigestion scarcely noticed on the earth becomes sickness two or three miles up.

It may be that the lamentable large number of deaths in our aviation camps will be reduced by a closer watching of the general health of the flying men. Any enthusiasts, they may be too keen to fly when only a minor malady afflicts them. Yet it is evident from the observations of the British surgeon that a trivial illness, transported aloft, is likely to become overwhelming.

BRUCE DOING GOOD WORK ON SECOND

Earl H. Bruce of this city, a sophomore at Dartmouth College, in keeping up his reputation at Hanover as a baseball star and without a question will be the best man out for the varsity team. Bruce is the most prominent infielder and without a doubt the strongest infield man on the team this year. Coach Ranney is very short of outfield material and as Bruce is such a versatile player there is some talk of shifting him to the outfield. However, he is playing such a wonderful game at second base that it seems almost impossible to take him out of that position.

Bruce's marked ability as a baseball player is well remembered by local fans. He won fame as an athlete on the local high school team, the Lawrence Academy team and with the Sunset League. Last summer he starred with the Naval Reserve baseball team of Bunkin Island. His many local friends are pleased to hear of his continued success as he is one of Portsmouth's most popular young men.

DRUG STORE PROPRIETOR MURDERED

(By Associated Press)
Holyoke, Mass., April 5—George Elliott, aged 35, the proprietor of the Park pharmacy here, was shot today while on his way from his home to place of business and died an hour later in the hospital.

Miss Minnie Butterworth of Springfield, aged 29, a nurse, was arrested charged with murder. She had fired five shots from a revolver at Elliott, the police allege and when arrested was in the act of reloading the weapon preparatory she said, to killing herself.

When arraigned, Miss Butterworth told the court of alleged relations with the dead man, which she said had extended over several years. She said that she did not mean to kill Elliott.

A WARNING TO DOG OWNERS

State to Rigidly Enforce the Laws.

Partly owing to the deep snow of the past winter, but mostly owing to the innumerable number of worthless and unrestrained dogs roaming throughout fields and forests, it is safe to say that upwards of two hundred deer have been killed by dogs in southern New Hampshire during the past winter. The fish and game department have shared neither time nor expense in rounding up these dogs and in many instances has brought the owners of dogs caught in the act of killing deer, into court, only to have the sentence "suspended." In every case, we read a great deal about the scarcity of coal and the fitness of our hill pastures for the raising of sheep and the farmers are being urged on every hand to raise more sheep. What about the menace of these unrestrained dogs? It is safe to say that a dog that has run down and killed a deer will run down and kill sheep. Every dog that will chase deer or sheep is a menace to all other dogs in the community, as it is seldom that one dog runs alone, but will entice all other dogs possible to share his hunt. What can be done to stop this menace to our sheep and game? Let me quote some of the laws of our state in force: Chapter 60, Laws 1891 says that "Every owner or keeper of a dog three months old or over shall annually, on or before the 30th day of April, cause it to be registered, numbered, despoiled, licensed for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the clerk or the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number. Chapter 133, Section 14 (f) Laws of 1915, reads as follows:

"Dogs of the breed commonly used for hunting deer, and dogs that will hunt or pursue deer or sheep, shall not be permitted by the owner or keeper thereof to run at large unaccompanied by their owners and if such dog be found hunting, pursuing, or killing deer or sheep, it shall be evidence that such dog was permitted to run at large in violation of the provisions of this section. No person shall harbor or have in his possession a dog used for the purpose of hunting deer. The presence of a found dog or bitch so at large, or in a hunting camp or logging camp during the open season for hunting deer, shall be presumptive evidence of its unlawful use."

Also Chapter 14, Laws of 1915 which reads: "It shall be unlawful for any self-hunter or custodian of any self-hunting dog to permit such a dog to run at large in the woods or fields inhabited by game birds or quadrupeds or on lands where sheep are pastured between April 1 and December 1 of any year."

PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION AT FREEMAN'S POINT

Big gathering of Men to Hear Patriotic Address and Sing Songs

There was a patriotic demonstration at the Atlantic Corporation at Freeman's Point on Thursday afternoon, in which the officers and men employed at the plant all gathered at two o'clock and listened to patriotic addresses and sang patriotic songs.

The meeting was held at two o'clock in building No. 2 and there were upwards of a thousand men present. The meetings which are being held under the auspices of the National Service Section of the U. S. Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, was presided over by General Manager E. J. White of the Atlantic Corporation who opened the meeting with a short address to the men.

He then introduced Mr. M. S. Clifford representing the National Bureau who explained the purpose of the meeting and gave a very patriotic address on the great need of the ships and what part the ship builders were contributing to the war.

Another speaker was Mr. Sidney Horey a noted lecturer of New Orleans who gave a most interesting talk and a notable address was given by Sergeant Major Smith, known as "Smith from America," a member of the British army who has served three years in this great war with a credit to himself and the country. His talk was on the war condition and what the men of the front expected of the men back home.

The meeting opened with the singing of America by the entire gathering and it was a splendid volume of voices that arose in the national hymn. Sergeant Major Smith led the singing, playing an accompaniment on a cornet which is badly battered, having carried it owing to the heavy use. Now the flats are becoming bare and the blades are plenty. On the flats at East Point Harbor numerous diggers are now seen, while around the Wentworth house flats at New Castle one may daily see this favorite shell fish being gathered.

NEGRO ADMITS KILLING NIGHT WATCHMAN

Washington, April 5.—James Wilson King, 35 years old, who had been employed as night janitor in the once famous old mansion now occupied by the Great committee on public information fronting Lafayette square, N. W., Jackson Park, opposite the White House, was shot and killed in the hallway of the building at 5:45 p.m. Thursday.

The shooting occurred near the front door within plain view almost of the White House and for 12 hours presented a mystery to the police, even leading to the suggestion that King had been killed by German agents seeking some of the information in the dossiers of Chairman Clegg.

These theories, however, all vanished late Thursday afternoon when William Clements, 40 years old, a negro, who had been employed several days only as a janitor by the Clegg committee walked into police headquarters accompanied by his brother, surrendered himself to the police and confessed that he had shot and killed King.

Before his arrest the police had been securing the city for Clements when it developed that he had not been near around the building after the shooting and that his wife had told the police he had spoken of a quarrel with King.

Clements told the police that he had had a quarrel with King when the latter had questioned his right as a free man to go to all parts of the building occupied by the Clegg bureau. This led to words. The Negro said that King drew his revolver and leveled it upon him, but that the gun failed to fire. Then the Negro said he himself drew a gun and shot and killed King.

LOCAL BOWLERS DEFEAT ROCHESTER

Renner and Kingsbury of this city defeated Young and Kiley of Rochester in the second match of an inter-city series, at the Arcade Alley on Thursday evening.

The first match was rolled at Rochester and the Rochester team won out, so that the matches are now even, although the Rochester men still hold plus falls, the local team failing to overcome the lead of the first meeting.

It was a well rolled match and interesting, all four of the men rolling pretty consistent. Kingsbury was high man with an even 1000 and his partner Jack Renner was 882, and he incidentally had the high single string of 125.

Young was high for his team with 986, having a bad start of 84 but after that he rolled good. Kiley was low man with 970, only having one over the century string the sixth when he knocked them down for 121. The scores:

Renner and Kingsbury
Tanner—97, 96, 125, 90, 104, 91, 104, 79, 91—952.
Kingsbury—88, 106, 85, 111, 109, 99, 103, 92, 112, 91—1000.
Total—1952.

Young and Kiley
Young—81, 92, 122, 100, 109, 95, 92, 105, 101, 91—935.
Kiley—97, 93, 94, 92, 95, 121, 93, 93, 99, 98—870.
Total—1925.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

A Few Applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur Brings Back Its Vigor, Color, Gloss and Youthfulness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is falling, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not staid, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You must dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of dandruff.

Among the Chinese of Hongkong, China, there is a floating population of nearly 55,000. These strange people live on waterways in fantastic houseboats, most of which are no larger than an ordinary rowboat. On these little crafts they are born, marry and die, many of them without having lived on shore a single day.

TREATMENT OF GERMAN SPIES TOO TIMID

Washington, April 4.—The "timid attitude" of the Administration in dealing with traitors was criticized, despite action against hostile aliens was advocated and a strict censorship of the foreign language newspapers published in this country recommended by state governors who delivered addresses at a conference of the governors, representatives of the state councils of defense and the Council of National Defense held in the office of Secretary of the Navy Daniels today. Governor Stuart of Montana declared that the attacks on pro-Germans in the west were due to the fact that the Government "does not reach out and grab" those who preach treason. "I for one take the position that we should not wait for the Federal Government to get it," he said. "We act ourselves." Governor McCall of Massachusetts said a great nation should fight a war in a great way. One or two speakers advocated the extreme penalty in dealing with traitors. Some advocated legislation prohibiting teaching of German in schools and the speaking of German. "If you don't clean German out of this country the Crown Prince will sit in Washington," declared Senator Young of Iowa. Governor Alexander of Idaho declared it was a crime for anyone to ask today why America is in the war. All of the persons present favored compelling aliens to enter the country's military service.

McCall Would Make Aliens Serve
"I approve the statements that aliens should be made liable for military service," said Governor McCall. "We have many aliens in Massachusetts. Indeed in some of the wards of our cities we had only enough registered citizens to fill the draft quota of the wards. I think it would be practical for the governors here present to adopt a resolution approving the passage of alien draft legislation by the Congress.

"With regard to the activities of Germans which has been so generally discussed here, I want to say that we have a great many foreigners in Massachusetts but not so many Germans. I think that as a whole the population of Massachusetts is loyal. I have listened with interest to the statements made by the governors from the west where the German population is larger than in the eastern section of the country. Their problems are greater than ours, but a great nation should fight a war in a great way. Our laws should be framed carefully, and only after they have been studied by the Department of Justice.

"Every state should do its utmost to help win the war. It must subscribe its full share of the Liberty Loan, it must give its sons to the nation, it must meet Red Cross requests, it must do its share in everything. All states must fall in line. Massachusetts has subscribed several hundred million dollars to the Liberty Loans. The state has put 90,000 of its men in the military service. It is meeting its obligations. We did not vote for the President to be commander-in-chief. We voted for another. But we are behind Woodrow Wilson to the limit. We must all get behind him and in so doing we will win the war."

Young Attacks German Preachers
Senator Young delivered a strong address. "We have had the most of our trouble with preachers who preach in the German language. If people can't get to heaven by praying in English they had better stay on this earth. Treason spreads over the prairies faster than a wireless could carry it. The death penalty for those guilty of treason would suit me first rate. The judges of Federal courts should have the power to intern disloyalists. Turn them out to pasture and say goodbye until the war is over. I would like to be commissary for one of the stockades. There would be a lot of fat days. In our own state there are 5000 persons who should be in stockades right now.

"German is the mother in the vinegar of all treason in the United States. The German newspapers ought not to be printed. We have got to rule or be ruled. We are teaching German in our schools; that should be stopped."

President Favors Teaching German
"The President encourages it," interrupted Secretary of the Interior, Lane.

"That does not help matters any," retorted Mr. Young.

"Yes, it does," said the Secretary. "We are teaching German in our high schools and we are following England and France in this respect."

"Out where Americans are born we want to teach them to be Americans," continued Mr. Young. "I am against naturalizing any more aliens. We have enough ignorance at the ballot box now. This Administration has made a Democrat of me"—and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who was presiding, laughed and clapped his hands—"I didn't think it was possible. Let me say that I have no politics which interfere with the United States. I would suppress the German press entirely. We have got to clean German out, if we don't the Crown Prince will be sent to Washington by the Kaiser. Clean the German books out of our schools."

Governor Stewart of Montana said it was hard to understand the timid attitude of the national Government in dealing with treason. "The people of my state," he said, "hanged a man last summer because he said the American flag was a rag. You say it was unlawful. It had a beneficial effect. Prosecuting officers should not quibble about this and about that. I for one take the position that we should not wait for the Federal Government. We do it ourselves."

Secretary Daniels interrupted to say that the attorney general has drafted bills which will give the Administration the power that the governor said the Government should have. The bills are pending in Congress. "While I sympathize" said the Secretary, "we must stamp out treason by law, not otherwise."

After a brief conference the resolutions committee adjourned, having made arrangements for presenting the aims of the conference to Congress as ground work for legislation.

Approval was given to resolutions providing for the cooperation of the Government and large industries in carrying out national Americanization programs and providing that instruction in academic studies in all non-public schools should be given only in English.

SPORT NOTES OF INTEREST

The Manchester mat fans who saw John Kilonis take the middleweight wrestling championship from Pinky Gardner will put the bout down as the best which the mat game has offered in years. Like real Apollos the pair battled their wits and strength in the arena through the long space of time before Gardner went down for the fall. Kilonis' famous grip, the merry-go-round was as useless as was Gardner's headlock. The match was a lummer and the Greek won by wearing down his opponent.

The St. Louis promoter who is staging the show featuring Jack Dempsey next Monday night is about as changeable as New Hampshire weather. On the original card were Dempsey and Ibb Devere. Then Tom Cowley's name was substituted for the latter only to have another change made whereby Devere was again carded to meet the man from Peisen. Now old Porky Flynn of Boston is the latest to have his name grace the card.

With a date at Madison Square Garden open through the illness of Joe Stecher, it looks as if Promoter Cuddy will stage another wrestling match between Lewis and Zhyssko, with everything to go.

Sergt Francis Outmet, former national amateur and open golf champion, says that he is having lots of fun at Ayer, Mass. He says that there are few dull moments left after the day's work is done, as athletics are very popular. "When America gathers her men together for a great drive against the Germans, she will have the finest collection any nation could boast of," is Outmet's opinion.

Boxing is one of the favorite sports of blinded soldiers in St. Dunstan's London, England, where Canadian boys who have lost their sight are being re-educated. The extent to which other senses can be trained to replace vision explains the eagerness of the Canadians to take up civil life. Boxing is possible for the men by use of little bells on the wrists of the gloves, differently toned for the right and the left hands. Hearing becomes so keen that it is easy for the men to judge the distance, and follow the motions of their sparring partners—so easy, in fact, that spectators cannot be convinced that the boxers are blind. The Canadian boys whose re-education has been arranged for St. Dunstan's by the military hospitals commission not only learn a new occupation, but through training gain self reliance and a firm grasp on the new life.

John Myers says his objection to St. Louis was its climate. All right, we'll match climates with Boston, winner take all.—St. Louis Exchange.

Douglas Fairbanks, the movie star is taking to wrestling with the same seriousness as he does his other work. Experts believe that if he went after some of the star professionals he would land on top.

Jack McAuliffe, the veteran, lightweight boxer has been booked to appear at a Lynn theatre next week.

Joe Egan, who meets Ted Lewis at Milwaukee on April 10, will leave Boston Sunday for the Wisconsin city.

FEATURE BOOTS FOR TONIGHT'S SHOW

The Rockingham A. C. will present a boxing card at Freeman's hall which should appeal to every sporting fan. The main bout is of a calibre that is seldom shown in a city of this size, for Billy Carney of New Bedford and Young Battling Nelson of New York are boys that are feature men at all of the big clubs throughout the east and Nelson has fought all though the west.

Nelson shades the New Bedford man a little, but Carney who has been coming fast, expects to get the decision this evening, having trained faithfully for the match.

Another bout that will have more local interest is that of Young Clemons of the South Dakota and Young Governor of Somersworth. Clemons will show for Verde. He is a most promising youngster who certainly can handle himself. In govern he meets a boy who will be just as willing to mix things up and it should be very fast.

In addition there are good preliminaries and the show in every way will be equal to that of three weeks ago, the best ever held in this section of the country.

RUSSIANS BLEW UP OWN SHIPS FEARING CAPTURE

Petrograd, April 5.—(By The Associated Press)—Several Russian warships including four submarines in the harbor of Hong were blown up by their commanders who feared capture by the Germans. The mayor of Sukhum-Raker reports that the Black Sea fleet torpedo boats are bombarding and looting towns along the coast.

GERMAN PRESS TURNS ON HINDENBURG

(By Associated Press)

Ottawa, April 4.—The German press in warning its readers not to expect too much of the offensive in the west, says a Reuter dispatch today from London.

The Cologne Gazette says extraordinary rumors are prevalent in Germany regarding the extent of German "victory" and are inspired by the enemy, who is exaggerating the Teutonic successes for the purpose of depressing the masses through disappointment.

The war correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung says that hitherto it has been impossible exactly to estimate the German losses, but it is unnecessary to jump to the conclusion that they are enormous because the victory was difficult. He states that the enemy's resistance is hardening and has been favored by rain and stormy weather that have greatly hampered the offensive operations.

The Frankfurter Zeitung attacks von Hindenburg for attempting to override the Reichstag. It appears that he telegraphed the vice president of the Reichstag as follows:

"The fresh sacrifices of blood forced upon us have not been made for nothing. I know that the Reichstag understands this and that it will champion a strong German peace."

The newspaper, commenting on this says: "With all the respect and admiration with which we treat a commander, we feel that von Hindenburg's intervention in politics is the most serious thing that has happened, as yet, for the Fatherland. He is encouraging the Pan-German annexationists, who are already exploiting the western offensive for the purpose of altering the Reichstag's war aims."

THEY WOULD HAVE TO BOTHER ABOUT THAT

(By Associated Press)

Amsterdam, April 4.—That Germany should demand raw materials from the United States, the British dominions, and enemy countries in South America as "war indemnity" is urged by Prince Zu Lowenstein Wertheim Franderburg in Die Wirklichkeit.

"After the war is over," says the Prince, "the German Empire will resemble a great store which has sold out its stocks. In the first three years of war, raw materials worth 10,000,000,000 marks were consumed in Germany. There is an absolute shortage of everything, from cotton to sulphur, from bacon to platinum. That shortage is a serious danger, for it stands to reason that just as a man out of breath cannot run, a pumped out state cannot engage in a new war. She must, first of all, get her breath."

"There will be a new war, an economic war, as soon as military peace is secured. We must take steps before hand to make necessary provision for supplying German wants. Even if peace opens up every market in the world, there will still be the wildest competition for supplies. Every cotton spinner will struggle to obtain a quick supply of cotton, every gardener will strive for seeds, every farmer for oil-cake and fodder. English, German, French and Austrian will all madly struggle for supplies."

"Germany must not rely on the possibility of obtaining her supplies of cotton, minerals and other necessary raw materials simply on the possibility of obtaining them by purchase. That hope will be scarce and our exchange will be at a low level. Against these threatening economic catastrophes there is only one possible course, prevention."

"The victors in this great world war, that is to say, Germany and her allies, must insert in their peace conditions a clause demanding a portion of the war indemnity in raw materials, and this to be supplied before any other powers are supplied. The victors must be the first to eat, and the first to start their factories. In this way we shall get a good start over all competitors among foreign nations."

The Prince proceeds to enumerate what sort of materials may be demanded of some of the belligerents, including Italy, Algeria, Egypt, Canada and Australia. The possibilities of the United States are too well known to need cataloging.

"This process of indemnification may be continued for as long a time as necessary," says the Prince. "It is only in this way that the war and its consequences can be changed for Germany into a source of blessing which will again raise our lands and peoples to their old superiority among the nations of the world, which will save them from want, from crushing taxation, from mass emigration. Destiny compels us to take these steps, and we must take them or perish. It would be criminal to permit sentimentality or false magnanimity to prevent us from utilizing our victory to the full."

NOT SECTARIAN IN CAMPS

New York, April 4.—Remarkable unity prevails among the religious workers in the various Army camps of the East, according to reports made at a conference here yesterday attended by camp pastors from camps Daveng, Dix, Meade, Upton, Lee and Merritt, the Philadelphia and Newport training stations and the training camps at Washington, Allentown and Gettysburg.

RUSSIA NOW WANTS AN ARMY

Moscow, April 4 (By the Associated Press).—Russia would form an army of 1,500,000 men, not inferior in power and equipment to the Germans and Japanese, M. Podvolsky, assistant secretary of war, declared on Tuesday at a conference in Moscow of the various military department heads. This would be the first step in arming the whole Russian nation, he added. He said the army organization was impossible without the old officers and outlined a measure to enlist the services of all generals and publish their names, giving to citizens the right to state objections to anyone he reported progress in enlistments for the Red Army. Since the beginning of the army organization two weeks ago 11,000 have enlisted in Moscow and been properly equipped. Nizhni-Novgorod, Voronezh, Tula, Kaluga, Kostroma, Tchernigov, Kharkov and many other cities report considerable numbers of recruits, many of whom are trained. The great handicap, he said, was lack of instructors.

PRESIDENT SENDS GREETING TO ARMY

(By Associated Press)

With the American Army in France, April 4.—The next issue of the Stars and Stripes, the soldier's paper, will contain a message from President Wilson to the men in the army in France. "Please convey to the officers and men of our expeditionary force, my warmest greetings on this, the first anniversary of the entrance of the United States into this great war for liberty and to them that we are proud of them and the work they have already accomplished and that we are confident that they will conduct themselves as men from the land of liberty."

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness, softness, whiteness and beauty.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

JEALOUSY KEEPING MARINES OUT OF FIGHTING

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 4.—What promised to be a spirited debate in the House today, brought on by the statement of Rep. Britton of Illinois, republican, that military jealousy is keeping the marines from fighting in France, was cut short by Majority Leader Kitchener, moving the adjournment of the house. Mr. Britton called upon Secretary Daniels who he said was anxious to see the marines get into action, to find out why they had been held back.

Sydney, Australia, April 4.—Several additional deaths are reported as a result of a mysterious disease called "X," resembling infantile paralysis, which has recently made its appearance in the inland districts of New South Wales. Fatal cases have also occurred at Naraburi. The board of health has detached a large staff of experts to study and combat the disease.

GOLD WATCH AS A GIFT FROM YACHT CLUB

Ex-Commodore Ashworth Re-membered by That Organization.

Over 50 of the members of the Portsmouth Yacht club assembled at the club quarters on Thursday evening to help in the farewell reception tendered Luke Ashworth, who will shortly leave for Seattle to take up his duties with the Seattle Shipbuilding and Engine Company. Following the business meeting the club members showed the esteem in which Mr. Ashworth is held by the organization in the presentation of the gold watch. Dr. C. E. Johnson made the address on behalf of the club during which he expressed the sentiments of every member and made it known to Mr. Ashworth that his work for the Portsmouth Yacht club has been at all times appreciated and that the well wishes of the organization go with him in his new field of labor. The recipient of the handsome gift told the yachtmen how much he prized the token and that the thought of the pleasant days as a member of the organization would ever be with him in his new home on the Pacific coast. A luncheon was served and the remainder of the evening given over to a variety of entertainment. Mr. Ashworth has been a member of the club since he came to this city eight years ago and for three terms he filled the place of commodore.

THE HERALD HEARS

That everybody should put out the flag on Saturday the anniversary of the entry of the United States into the war.

That it doesn't look like a new highway bridge at Dover Point and Newington as far as the Boston and Maine is concerned.

That this will hurt Portsmouth more than Dover if the bridge is not built.

That one doesn't have to send twice for a junk man these days.

That the Boston and Maine men are wondering when that long reported increased pay will come along.

That the Boston and Maine cannot see why the company should be required to build a highway bridge at Dover Point when it is a matter for the state to handle.

That the first baseball team to line up for the Sunset league is the nine from the naval prison.

That the tax collector will have to hunt up a lot of new faces who were in this city on April 1 and who are required to pay a poll tax of $2.

That local business men predict that unless the coal docks at the North End are put in operation and coal sent here by water during the coming summer that New Hampshire will be as badly off next winter as it was last winter as far as the necessary supply is concerned.

That the mayor of Melrose, Mass., wanted to put the people of that city on Easy street.

That the mayor worked hard to have the city men take the ashes out of the cellars of the people and load it into the city carts.

That the aldermen passed up such a recommendation and the people will continue to dig it out themselves and move it to the edge of the sidewalk.

THIEVES MAKE A BIG HAUL ON RICHARDS AVE.

Silver and Wedding Presents Taken From Residence of Charles H. Ambhoff.

After a quiet spell of several weeks the house breaking fraternity became active again on Wednesday evening and started operations on Richards avenue.

Some time during the evening the residence of Charles H. Ambhoff at No. 296 was visited by thieves who were well paid for their trouble.

They forced an entrance in the rear of the house and once within, they worked on every floor of the dwelling. Every room was ransacked and all the silver in sight taken. The haul also included the wedding presents and other articles much prized by the family.

The prowlers, after gathering up the stolen property, quietly walked out the front door of the residence. Nobody in the neighborhood got an eye on the crooks and the break was not discovered until late at night on the return of the occupants of the house who found both doors open and the house cleaned out of everything in silver and gold with the exception of a watch which was overlooked in the raid.

TO THE casual observer CLOTHES ARE just clothes MOSTLY ALL alike yet THERE IS an important DIFFERENCE BETWEEN the GENERAL RUN of ready-to-wear CLOTHES AND a make like "STEIN-BLOCH" for while THE FABRICS of ordinary "MAKES" MAY be just as ATTRACTIVE AND some of them

JUST AS good one should TAKE INTO consideration THE FACT that the wearing QUALITY AND serviceability OF CLOTHES depends largely UPON THE unseen things SUCH AS the linings and THE NEEDLEWORK and the TAILORING AND in these UNSEEN THINGS lies the DIFFERENCE IN wearing value

SNOW-WHITE LACE CALFSKIN BOOTS

—of Aristocratic Arch and Shape, $8.50.

The shoe manufacturer has become a very artist. Depending on line and curve, he makes the most of these adding workmanship of a high order. The white boot is a model of beautiful shaping and making. Made of white calfskin, and every stitch in the making is careful and fine. The light weight welted sole and heels are the approved fashion features. The imitation tip is a nicety of trimming.
